Playing on their “Small Instrument”

Flute	Will sound an “A” on the headjoint
Oboe	The reed should sound a “C”
B♭ Clarinet	Will sound a concert F♯ on the mouthpiece and barrel
Bass Clarinet	Will sound a concert C♯ with mouthpiece and neck On some brands of bass clarinet, the sounding pitch is D♯/E♭ because of the size of the neck
Bassoon	Will sound a concert C with the bocal and reed
Alto Sax	Will sound a concert A♭ with the mouthpiece and neck
Tenor Sax	Will sound a concert E with the mouthpiece and neck
Bari Sax	Will sound a concert E with the mouthpiece and neck
All Brass except horns	Buzz a concert F (middle) and concert B♭ (lower)
Horns	Buzz a written G, E, and C (concert C, A, and F—high, middle, low)

Note Names

As you move into Sequence 7, there are two things that you may elect to do:

1. Since the students just learned how to tie a half note and a quarter note together, you may choose to go ahead and teach the dotted-half note. When teaching the concept, make sure that you show them the concept of “half the value added to the note” by using dotted whole notes, as well as dotted half notes to demonstrate the math. We wait on the dotted quarter until much later. You may go to HOU and print out the supplemental sheet for dotted-half notes to teach the concept.
2. Ask students to take lined index cards (the small ones) and make note cards of note NAMES within a one octave range (8 notes) for their instrument. Students should include writing the five lines of the staff, inserting their clef, and writing one whole note. Answers should go on the back of the card. Here are the ranges we recommend:

Flute	B♭, C, D, E♭, F, G, A, B♭
Oboe	F, G, A, B♭, C, D, E, F
Bassoon	B♭, C, D, E♭, F, G, A, B♭
Clarinet/B Clar	written pitches C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C
Alto/Bari Sax	written pitches G, A, B, C, D, E, F♯, G
Tenor Sax	written pitches C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C
Trumpet	written pitches C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C
Horn	written pitches C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C
Trom/Euph/Tuba	B♭, C, D, E♭, F, G, A, B♭
Percussion	B♭, C, D, E♭, F, G, A, B♭

Have students submit their notecards for a grade and then hand them back.

They will be used later to insert the fingerings for these pitches. You will need to explain the difference between writing the note out and writing it on the staff (B-flat versus putting the flat before the B on the staff—flat B)

Habits Universal

Habits Universal (www.habitsuniversal.com) features supplemental rhythm vocabulary sheets, accompaniment tracks, percussion grooves, video start-up clinics, as well as a video coach for each exercise in the book. The Habits Universal Interactive platform is available on MusicFirst and SmartMusic and is compatible with PowerSchool, Canvas, Brightspace, Edmodo, Schoology and many other platforms!

Sound and Space

An ARTICULATION indicates how a note should be played and is applied at the beginning of the note.

LEGATO means smooth and connected, and is indicated by a dash or a TENUTO marking (ten.).

STACCATO means a separated, detached style and generally means to put space between the notes.

80. Concert E $\flat$ Pentascale - Playing Test #10

81. Articulation Study

Sequence Teaching

- Explain ACCIDENTALS and the note coming back in the measure
- Count it and “tizzle” it with fingerings
- Play notes for full value with no dynamics or articulations
- Review staccato articulations
- Review dynamics, especially piano
- Go SLOW to later go fast – We are teaching them how to practice

48. An Accident Ready to Happen (The accidental stays in effect until the barline.)

THE TEACHING INVENTORY DATABASE (TID)

“What” to Teach	“How” to Teach It
Tone	Proper embouchure information for each instrument
	Resonance and ring
	Support – air in motion
	Good equipment, including mouthpieces and reeds
	Listening library of characteristic tone qualities
	Air stream/air column tone troubleshooting
	Displaced reed exercises (for saxophone)
	Breathing exercises
	Provide names of great players on each instrument
	Appropriate mouthpiece buzzing and pitch centering
	Vibrato; vibrato exercises q=72
Phrasing	Chorales
	Playing to and away from arrival points
	Peaks and valleys
	Relate to musical sentences and speaking
	Carrying over phrases
	Tension/release, suspensions, appoggiaturas, intensity
Balance	McBeth pyramid

Some features in

HABITS OF A SUCCESSFUL BEGINNER BAND MUSICIAN include:

- Teacher Tips for each exercise of the book
- Diatonic solfege, which starts on the first day of instruction
- Sequential rhythm charts followed by the same rhythm in pitches to teach for transfer
- Left (L) and Right (R) indicators and chromatic fingerings for woodwinds
- Shaded boxes around first-time challenges in the student books
- A thorough explanation of (T:1) for trombones and rules for when to use it
- The sequential introduction of the one-handed breakdown of a percussion rudiment, before introducing the rudiment itself
- The use of the “Enharmonic Ladder” and the “call and response” game to learn enharmonic notes
- A thorough explanation and markings for the “F dilemma” on oboe
- An explanation of appropriate flicking on bassoon
- Two pages of slow “clarinets only” work
