

Program Rules: Military Ensembles

1. You will be able to reserve up to six (6) pieces on Wednesday, May 4 and up to fourteen (14) additional pieces on Wednesday, May 18. You can have up to eighteen (18) pieces reserved at any time after that. All pieces you are considering for your concert program must be reserved. There will be two (2) confirmation periods where you will need to log into the music reservation system and confirm pieces you are still considering. If you fail to confirm your selections, they will be deleted from your reservation and available for other ensembles to select. Your final program is due on August 17.

2. Although your group will be onstage more than the actual playing time, time must be allowed for announcements, introductions, and changes of conductors. The titles you select MUST total your specific playing time. Our schedule does not allow for intermissions or encores.

When adding up the total music timing of your repertoire, please be aware of the time needed for set changes or changes of conductors. If you have multiple conductors or set changes, you may need to program less music to complete your concert on time. If your concert ending time arrives prior to the downbeat of the final piece on your program, you will not be allowed to play that work.

3. Music performed at the Midwest in 2019 or 2021 cannot be played in 2022. This includes separate movements of the same piece, if they are only available in a single edition. If you receive a publication with a 2022 copyright date on it, and it is NOT listed in the new music section of the Midwest Clinic website, it is considered NEW music.

4. All concert bands are required to include a march (non-arranged) on their Midwest Concert. For a list of recommended march composers, CLICK HERE.

5. The selection of guest conductors is your decision. Organizations can have no more than five conductors, including the primary conductor, on their programs. In other words, you may have a total of four other conductors besides the regular conductor. We recommend no conductor appear on more than two programs during the same year. Jazz soloists will be selected in consultation with the Midwest Board liaison in order to ensure a variety of instrumentation among the few ensembles. Non-jazz soloists are up to the discretion of the ensemble director. The music selected by and for the guest conductors and soloists follows the same policies as the rest of your program.

6. You may include your own vocal soloist or small ensemble. To include any larger ensembles, please apply immediately to The Midwest Clinic Office for permission.

7. A member of the Board of Directors has been assigned as your liaison. He or she will assist you as you plan your program and select your music. You can find your board liaison assignment by logging into your account on The Midwest Clinic website and clicking on the Performer Homepage.

8. Each director, in conjunction with the liaison, makes his or her own selection of music governed by the preceding policies. The Performance Coordinating Committee will examine all the programs and reserves the right to suggest possible additions or deletions, if necessary, to help balance and/or strengthen the clinic program.

Special Information About Planning Your Program

1. Most of our exhibiting publishers will send you complimentary reference scores for your selection of music. We urge you not to request complimentary full sets, as this may obligate you to play their works even if you change your mind before your final program is due. The publishers are eager for you to perform their music and will be happy to send you complimentary scores. If you want to see a full set before selecting a number, ask for a “loan” or “on approval” set from your music dealer or the publisher. When you have submitted your final program and it has been approved, and the publisher notified, most publishers will cancel the loan or approval charge and give you the set at no cost.

2. You will be approached by composers, arrangers, publishers, soloists, and conductors to program their potential releases with the promise they will be off the press by the September 15 deadline. Please do not promise to program a title that is not in print unless it is with the mutual understanding that if the score and parts are not finished on time by the deadline, a substitution will be made.

3. Music, guest conductors, and soloists cannot be added or changed after your final program has been approved.

4. Because of numerous requests and time constraints, it is not possible for any organization to make award presentations or announcements during your performance. With the exception of the official Midwest Clinic performance plaque, no other awards presentation may be made during your concert.
